

RESULT CANNOT BE PREDICTED

Public Attention in German Empire Entirely Taken Up With the Election.

PROTESTANTS IN POLITICS EXPECT TO EXCLUDE THE CATHOLICS.

Berlin, Jan. 5.—The parliament campaign with the consequent discussion of internal questions, altogether occupies public attention. The situation is so confused that foreign observers resident in Berlin have scarcely the right to form a definite personal opinion.

The correspondent of the Associated Press applied today to one of the five members of the executive committee of the conservative party for an estimate of the probable result of the elections. He said that the committee from some thousands of reports received from various election districts of the empire, believed the center party would lose a few seats, especially in the second elections in districts where the center party has been in the first ballot. The committee did not expect the conservatives or liberals to get the seats which may be thus lost by the center party; they probably would be captured by the socialists, so that with the exception of the transfer of the few center party seats which will go to the socialists, the new reichstag, generally speaking, will not be much different in composition from the last.

Protestants in Politics.

A development that may have deep influence on the future is the movement to organize the Protestant church into a political party so as to counterbalance the center or clerical party. As the Protestants form two-thirds of the population, the German Evangelical League, which is now placarding the country, argues that the Catholics by union at the polls could be excluded from any influence in the reichstag. While opposed to permanent political activity, the Protestant League advocates political union in order to eliminate Catholic influence from German affairs. Oddly enough members of the emperor's entourage are talking of a plan to partly separate the Prussian government from the Lutheran state church as part of the movement to assist the Protestants to organize against the Catholics. Under the existing state affairs the emperor, as bishop of the Prussian church, rises through his lieutenant, the minister of public worship and the provincial consistory. The idea is that the church in future be allowed to manage itself, receiving in the same manner as the Catholic church a proportional share of taxes assessed for the support of religion.

THE SIMPLE LIFE

World Gone Made in Effort to
Pile Up Riches, Says
Speaker.

ADDRESS AT THE Y. M. C. A.

STRENUOUSNESS AND SIMPLICITY GO HAND IN HAND.

The "simple life" was discussed last night in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian association by Marshall Choate Crouch of the Midland Lyceum bureau, Des Moines, Ia. Mr. Crouch is an excellent speaker, earnest, convincing and original. His address deserved a good attendance, but the auditorium, which has a seating capacity of 500, contained less than fifty.

"We are living in an age of horseless carriages," said Mr. Crouch. "Everything is hurry and rush. Everybody wishes to get there, and it does not matter how he gets there so long as he keeps pace with the crowd. This age is also an age of race suicide. The world has gone mad in an effort to pile up riches. The world has no time to look after the family, to cultivate the things that are nearest and dearest along the lines of nature. Boys and girls learn to get into the rush of the world and keep pace with it. They must learn to be simple in their hearts and one of the great secrets of life is to be simple. There is no time for the cultivation of the natural, gentle side of the boy."

"Boys are either savages or sissies. I don't care a cent for sissy boys. They are an unnatural growth. One of the best specimens of the simple life is a real boy. This boy feels in the spring that longing for the swimming hole. The honest look of the square-in-the-eye boy is the kind that counts. He is the boy that makes the great and useful man. He is the boy who respects and loves his father and mother. He is the boy who gets supreme joy out of his work. There is no average boy. There are no two of them alike. But there is a wholesome simplicity in them all."

Father and Son.

"But there comes a day when this simplicity is lost. The boy becomes a man. He must get into the rush. It is only the adult who becomes confused and forgetful. He has a passion for filling his life with the noise and noise of the world. He might have done pass by as a thing to be scorned."

"Fathers should be the playmates of their boys. Let them slide together on the pavements, let them become companions. Let them go fishing together, let them enter into every manner of pastime together. The salvation of the boy is the salvation of the father as well. The father can learn to keep young and natural and kind-hearted by association with his boys."

"Complexity sooner or later gets into the boy. The modern complexity which is governed not by our natural means, but by artificial means. Everybody must keep to the pace and in order to do so we must abbreviate everything. We never get time to absorb any one thing, but must take in everything half way. We must become abbreviators. This is an age of show. We must lose our identity and become one of the show. We must walk with stiffs so that the public may see the crowd. The politician, the literary man, the business man, must show off. Merit must be counted. It is fashion that determines our artificial, our artificial life. We must exhibit our outward garments and bury ourselves in one final flash of artificiality. The noblest good that man wants to expire without at least one surgical operation. To die naturally would not be fashionable."

How to Achieve It.

"Simplicity is on the inside and is as often found in the palace as in the hut. No one class of people has got it alone, but every class has its representatives of the simple life. Florence Nightingale had it. One of the noblest specimens in American life is Abraham Lincoln. His was the simple life. He was a simple man and there are multitudes that do likewise."

"The simple life is composed of three things. The first is simplicity of heart. The second is simplicity in speech and the third is simplicity in doing. I like simple language. If a man talks in simple and simple and well. It is easier to talk this way than to try to be somebody else and become affected. I like to read Eugene O'Neill. His language is natural and tender. His language comes from the heart."

"Simple doing is merely an education in worthy work, patience, earnestness and good habits. Men who do things are almost men of action. Men of action sometimes make mistakes, but they never make the greatest mistake of all, which is, doing nothing."

"Strenuousness and simplicity go hand in hand. Strenuousness is the life of forward movements. Cultivate the process of assimilation. Drink in all that is good and wholesome and exclude all that is contrary to the natural, simple life. It is the two words, assimilation and exclusion, lies the keynote of the simple life. It is for lifting up our lives out of the depths of this artificial existence. It is time for simplicity."

SLANT-EYED SUN WEDS DUSKY MAID

After Twenty-Year Romance, a
Comely Negress Marries Her
Chinese Lover.

FORMERLY SCHOOLMATES

LEGAL OBSTRUCTIONS TO NUP- TIALS ARE OVERRULED.

The happy denouement of a peculiar romance of twenty years occurred yesterday when Miss Josee Mills, a dusky daughter of Ethiopia, became the blushing bride of T. S. Sun, a lemon-tinted worshiper of Confucius, at the city and county building in this city.

Twenty years ago when the two were schoolmates together in San Francisco, first became enamored with the charms of the little ebony-hued lass. His almond eyes wandered from the copy book where he had been endeavoring to teach his pen to abandon the picturesque vertical writing of his ancestors and take up the horizontal cursive of the Americans, to the love light in the eyes of his sable affinity.

The strange little playmates kept up their early friendship, which soon ripened into love. Sun sought fortune in Salt Lake, and is now one of the more prosperous merchants of Chinatown. His bride-to-be went with relatives to Seattle, where she completed her education. She is said to be highly cultured, and prominent in movements for the advancement of her race.

A few weeks ago Miss Mills came to Salt Lake to wed her Mongolian sweetheart. For a few days an almost insurmountable barrier seemed to be between the pair and their future happiness. They were informed by the marriage license clerk that there was a law on the Utah statute books that prevented the marriage of a couple of different races.

The county attorney investigated the case and conveyed the joyful news to the expectant bride party that though there was a law preventing the marriage of the white and the black and the yellow and the white, there was no legal distinction in the color line between the black and the yellow. The wedding preparations were then completed after the slight interruption and the two were happily wed yesterday afternoon.

EARTH CAVED ON RESCUERS

Forty Men Buried in Pit They Had
Dug to Reach Two Comrades
Caught Shortly Before.

Bingen, Hesse, Jan. 5.—Forty workmen were buried yesterday evening in the cutting of a new railway line between Lamscheid and Leinungen. The dead bodies of thirty-one of the men and fifteen injured workmen have been recovered.

An embankment had collapsed, burying two men. To rescue them large parties of other laborers employed along the line were immediately set to work and a wide pit was dug in which were about fifty men, when the overhanging hillside fell, burying forty of the laborers under masses of earth.

Those who were not buried began to dig out their comrades, while messengers were sent to nearby villages asking for help. Several physicians and a large force of workmen were sent to the scene of the disaster.

The rescue work, which was continued throughout the night, was dangerous owing to the possibility of fresh masses of earth falling on the laborers. Most of the workmen killed were young men. Among the injured are three children. It is probable that there are still fifteen bodies beneath the fallen earth.

SCOTLAND YARD MEN TAKE HAU TO GERMANY

London, Jan. 5.—Mark Hau of the George Washington university, whose extradition to Germany was refused on the ground of his mother-in-law, Frau Moller, at Baden-Baden, was recently charged with two Scotland Yard detectives, who had instructions to watch the prisoner closely. They will be met at Hamburg by two German officers, who will take Hau to Baden-Baden.

Hau refused to make a statement when asked to discuss his crime for the information of his American friends.

"77" GRIP

A new kind of Grip is prevalent. It is not the sneezing, coughing kind, but is just as bad, if not worse, than the heretofore familiar style of influenza.

It starts with general weakness and chills in hands and feet, followed by a high fever. The temperature rises rapidly and the patient aches all over.

The outbreak of Grip has been widespread lately, last week's damp weather having helped it along. The doctors say that the new style of influenza, without coughing and sneezing, has been the common variety this season.—Exchange.

DRS. SHORES EXPOSE OF THE "FAKIRS" BEARS FRUIT.

When Drs. Shores warned the public against Quack Doctors hiding behind the title of "Fake Medical Institutions" and exposed the "graff" they were threatened and coaxed to stop the crusade, but they told the fakirs plainly that "The Fakir must go." In despair the "Fake Medical Companies" immediately dropped the Fake Scheme, and now come before the public with the newer and more dangerous schemes. THEY ARE ON THE RUN—KEEP THEM GOING UNTIL UTAH IS FREE FROM FAKIRS AND THEIR ILK.—NEW SCHEMES—NEW METHODS—BUT THE SAME OLD GRAFTERS—Be on your guard—don't patronize any Fakir who hides behind a "FAKE MEDICAL COMPANY."

Although Drs. Shores fully intended to withdraw the cheap rate for their New treatment Jan. 1—and thereafter charge a moderate fee which would allow a fair profit to them, yet the doctors were so overwhelmed with applications for treatment on the closing day, that there were only two courses open to them, either to arbitrarily refuse many applications and thus disappoint many sufferers, or generously grant an extension of the offer, and thus give every one a chance to be cured for $1 a treatment or $15 for the Complete Cure of any Catarrhal disease, and Drs. Shores chose the latter course.

ONE TREATMENT CONVINCES THE MOST SKEPTICAL.

The greatest wonder and surprise is being manifested by those who have tried the NEW TREATMENT, and even the most skeptical are convinced in a single treatment of the wonderful effects of Drs. Shores' discovery. An immediate sense of relief is experienced, the nose becomes free, the breathing natural, headaches disappear, recent colds are cured often in one treatment, and everyone goes away pleased and talking of the New Treatment.

WEAK MEN PAY WHEN CURED

Contracted Disorders.	What "Weakness" is and How We Cure It.	Varicocele.
Be sure your cure is thorough. Not one of our patients has ever been relapsed after being discharged as cured, and we cure in less time than the ordinary forms of treatment require.	So-called weakness in men is merely a symptom of chronic inflammation in the prostate gland, brought on by early discharges, or by the improper treatment of some contracted disease. A complete and radical cure is therefore a question of restoring the prostate gland to the normal state, and this we accomplish promptly and completely without the use of internal remedies. Our treatment is a local one. It is original and scientific and has been proven absolutely effective. The analysis of tests we are convinced that by no other methods can full and permanent restoration of strength and vigor be accomplished.	Absolutely painless treatment that cures completely. Investigate our method. It is the only thoroughly scientific treatment for this disease being employed.
Specific Blood Poison.	No dangerous chemicals to drive the virus to the interior. No harmful blood cleansing remedies. We use the last poison taint.	Lost manhood, gonorrhea, syphilis, etc., are also among the diseases we cure to stay cured.

CAUCUS POSTPONED.

Boise, Idaho, Jan. 5.—It was expected that the speakership caucus would be held this evening, but it has been postponed until tomorrow. There is no change in the situation, and it seems altogether certain that Frank Hunt of Bannock will be selected. The north is unable to get together. Mr. Hunt has indicated he would be willing to withdraw if the north should agree upon a candidate, and it was felt to be to the best interests of the party and the state to select a man from the section but little disposition to try to agree. G. W. Thompson is apparently determined that the speaker shall not come from that section, and he controls the Neg Perce delegation.
